

Woodstock Chimes Featuring Agates Quickly Become as Captivating as the Stone

SHOKAN, N.Y., December 6, 2017 – During the 2017 winter market season, Woodstock Chimes, the leading manufacturer of musically tuned windchimes and high-quality gifts, launched the Woodstock Agate Chime™ series, available in five bold colors. These chimes were an overnight success, inspiring the company to design more products featuring the captivating, on-trend stone. The 2017 summer market season saw the launch of the Woodstock Agate Cascade™, featuring agates interspersed with curved steel discs and ending in a small steel bell, available in three colors. For the winter 2018 market season, the company will once again build on that success and launch a series of larger size agate chimes, and will expand its popular Woodstock Habitats™ - Dragonfly Windbell series by adding agate windcatchers to a group of three charming nature designs. All the agate products will be on display in showrooms throughout the country, including Atlanta, Dallas and Las Vegas.

“Our colorful agate products have quickly become strong sellers in our décor design offerings,” said Garry Kvistad, founder and owner of Woodstock Chimes and a GRAMMY® Award-winning musician. “The agates are sliced thin to reveal their translucent beauty and are then dyed. The sizes and hues will vary, making each piece of agate unique. Agates are an ancient stone, forming over long periods of time in cavities in volcanic rock. They were discovered and named by a Greek philosopher between the 4th and 3rd centuries BCE and are known as a grounding stone, bringing balance to our emotional, physical and intellectual state and promoting stability and strength. We hope your customers will be naturally drawn to the ancient beauty of these stones in our growing and intriguing collection of agate products.”

The chimes in the initial Woodstock Agate Chime series measure 18" in overall length. Featuring black finish ash wood and six silver rods, these chimes have agate windcatchers, available in five stunning, bright colors - Blue (WAGBL), Brown (WAGBR), Green (WAGG), Red (WAGR) and Purple (WAGU). Available for immediate shipping, they retail for $20 and come ready to give in a gift box.

 Great for adding color to a quiet corner of the home or garden, the designs in the decorative Woodstock Agate Cascade series measure 28" in overall length. Colored steel disks alternate with the similarly colored agate slices, and a quaint steel bell adorns the bottom of the cascade. Available in three colors, Blue (WAGBLC), Green (WAGGC) and Red (WAGRC), they retail for $35 and come ready to give in a gift box. They are available for immediate shipping.

The new Woodstock Agate Chime – Large will launch in three colors - Blue (WAGBLL), Green (WAGGL) and Purple (WAGUL). Measuring 25" in overall length, these chimes have five silver aluminum tubes and a teak finish ash wood top, and are musically tuned to an ancient Celtic scale. The colorful agate is framed by an attractive teak finish ash wooden ring. Retailing for $50, they come ready to give in a gift box. They will be available for shipping in mid-December.

The three-piece Dragonfly Windbell agate series is based on the longtime, strong selling Woodstock Habitats - Dragonfly Windbell, Verdigris (CDW) design, featuring verdigris finish cast aluminum and cast brass bead accents. The new additions feature aluminum dragonflies in coordinating colors and agate windcatchers in the same Blue (CDWBL), Green (CDWG) and Red (CDWU). Measuring 18" in overall length, they retail for $30, come ready to give in a gift box and will be available for shipping in mid-December.
