

Woodstock Chimes Expands Popular Chakra Offerings in new Woodstock Rainbow Makers™ Series
Made in the United Kingdom with genuine Swarovski crystals

SHOKAN, N.Y., March 1, 2018 – Woodstock Chimes, the leading manufacturer of musically tuned windchimes, has used the Eastern philosophy behind one of its most popular chimes series, Woodstock Chakra Chimes, for a new series of crystal suncatchers. Part of the Woodstock Rainbow Makers collection, the Crystal Chakra Cascade™ series is based on the ancient belief that the seven chakras correlate to the seven main nerve centers of the spine, each with a unique meaning, color and healing power. Genuine Austrian Swarovski crystals in the seven chakra colors cascade down to one of four clear faceted crystal accents: Almond (CCHCA), Ball (CCHCB), Octagon (CCHCO) and Icicle (CCHCI), as shown from left to right. The new suncatchers, designed and assembled in the United Kingdom, measure 5.5 inches long and 12 inches overall, including the silver finish plated brass chain. All come ready to give in an organza gift bag and retail for $25.

“Light reflecting off our beautiful Swarovski crystal suncatchers is something that must be seen to be believed,” said Garry Kvistad, founder and owner of Woodstock Chimes and a GRAMMY® Award-winning musician. “As we like to say, our Woodstock Rainbow Makers do for light what our chimes do for sound. Our chakra products are especially popular in the metaphysical category, and by expanding Woodstock Rainbow Makers into this area we expect to generate a strong return on investment and keep sales sparkling for us and our loyal retailers.”
